Shaping the Growth of GIS Innovation

Please join us for the fourth annual CGIA GeoSummit
Friday March 13, 2015 at the UC Merced California Room

This event brings together state and regional GIS experts, educators, graduate students, and faculty using GIS in their research, in addition to community members with an interest in GIS.

This year's event features speakers from all walks of GIS to share their work and research using the latest in GIS technology to understand and address local, regional, and statewide concerns.

Admission is free, registration is required, parking costs $6.00 for the day.
For further information please contact: RuthAnne Harbison at harbisonr@cityofmerced.org.
